

An update from the island of Ireland
17 July 2021

I hope that you, your teams, and your families are all doing well during this ongoing period of uncertainty for the tourism and travel industry across the world. Today, I'm pleased to confirm that from July 19th Ireland will be welcoming visitors from the European Union who hold the EU Digital COVID Certificate.

Before arriving into Ireland, EU visitors will need to complete a Passenger Locator Form where they can indicate which of the following they are travelling with:

- proof of vaccination
- proof of recovery from COVID-19 in the past 180 days
- proof of negative RT-PCR test taken within 72 hours prior to arrival into Ireland

The EU Digital COVID Certificate can be used as proof of whichever of the above applies. The Passenger Locator Form will be checked prior to departure to Ireland by the relevant carrier and visitors may be asked to provide the certificate indicated on their form. On arrival in Ireland, spot checks will be carried out on Digital COVID Certificates, other proof of vaccinations and negative RT-PCR tests as appropriate. Unfortunately, the introduction of these additional checks may cause some disruption to journeys and visitors may experience delays so visitors should give themselves extra time either side of departure and arrival.

From July 19th, children between the ages of 12 and 17, must have a negative RT-PCR test to travel into Ireland, even with fully vaccinated or recovered adults. Children under 12 do not need to take a RT-PCR test prior to travelling to Ireland. If there are any further changes we will update you or please check the Irish Government website for the latest information.

It is important to note that only those fully vaccinated or with proof of recovery from COVID-19 in the past 6 months will be able to avail of indoor hospitality during their stay in Ireland. It is anticipated that this will apply from July 26th. The EU Digital COVID Certificate can be used as proof of this. Those staying in hotels can avail of the indoor hospitality options within the hotel.

Northern Ireland are operating a system of green, red and amber countries and the measures in place will depend on the countries the visitor is travelling from or passing through. You can find further details on the Northern Ireland Government website.

The tourism industry right across the island of Ireland are very much looking forward to welcoming back your clients from overseas and will ensure they enjoy their visit. The health and safety of all our visitors continues to be the priority, and we will ensure they are protected alongside a very warm Irish welcome and a great holiday experience.

We know and understand the very great difficulty uncertainty causes for your business and will continue to do everything we can to help and will update you on any developments as they take place. If you have any further questions, please talk to the local Tourism Ireland team who will be happy to help and provide answers where they can.

Many thanks for your ongoing support for Tourism Ireland and the tourism industry on the island of Ireland. We very much value your business and look forward to working with you to rebuild it in the months and years ahead.

Best wishes

Niall Gibbons
Chief Executive
Tourism Ireland