Serving the Accommodation Industry

The IHF is supporting National Accommodation Employee Appreciation Day in association with the Irish Accommodation Services Institute (IASi). This initiative provides hotel managers with an opportunity to show their appreciation for the important work done each day by employees working in accommodation departments throughout the country. They are a vital part of our industry. Almost 100 properties took part in 2023 and we are looking for even more to participate this year!

The purpose of this employee day is to show how much you appreciate the hard work of accommodation employees and recognise the valuable contribution they make to your business. By providing a wider forum, the initiative will also help to promote accommodation roles and attract new people to our industry.

We would encourage all members to show your support and participate in this worthwhile initiative. Please see suggestions on page 2 for how to get started, and let us know what you plan to do for the day.

We will be using social media to generate awareness of this initiative and we would be delighted to share/retweet your ideas and photos. Make sure to include the hashtag #WorkPlaceHeroes and mention us @IHFcomms

SOME SIMPLE & FUN SUGGESTIONS FOR NATIONAL ACCOMMODATION EMPLOYEE APPRECIATION DAY

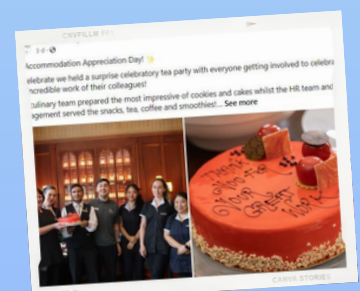

Celebrate with Pampering: Treat your team with complimentary spa treatments. Let them be your guest!

Tasty Treats: Cakes and snacks to spoil them – featuring typical foods from the various countries & nationalities of your accommodation staff.

Go on a team building outing: Create a list of interesting, unique and fun team building events and let your team decide which activity they'd prefer.

Let the Boss do the job for a few hours: a manager or other employees from different departments swap jobs for a few hours and see what happens!

Quiz: create a quiz about working in accommodation and see what other employees know about the role.
